Join NASA's Sun-Earth Connection Education Forum, a partnership between NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, UC Berkeley and the Exploratorium for live video of the March 29, 2006 eclipse.

The satellite and webcast video signals are available free to museums, planetariums, parks, schools, and other community organizations.

Celebrate our connection to the Sun everyday! Educational resources including "make and take" activities and print materials are available online all year round.
